Medicinal Plant Walks

Nature is our classroom!

Instructor: Angela Segraves, Herb and Plant Medicine Specialist

Edible medicinal plants are everywhere, local, free, abundant and they can be a sustainable source of plants for healing.

First Plant Walk on Saturday, June 15, 2019

More Walks on Saturdays: July 13, August 10, September 14

Location: Deep Creek Trailhead, 9am-12pm

$30 each walk or $100 for all four walks

We will identify 10 to 20 wild medicinal plants growing in the proximity of the Deep Creek trailhead. Some uphill hiking required. The purpose of the class will be identification of plants; followed by observation and study of their cycles of growth, medicinal qualities, flowering, seed production and moving into dormancy. Join all of the classes to see and learn about the full cycle of the plants. Advanced notice & payment required to have materials for each attendee.

Angela Segraves is a Certified Herbalist, Aroma Therapist, and Spiritual Life Coach.

She incorporates our local flora when teaching a variety of classes offered by PPI.

Advanced notice and payment required to have materials for each attendee.
